LEGAL

HOW THE LANIER LD520C/LD525C SERIES CAN HELP:

Print Advantages

- With the Locked Print feature, your users are required to enter a password to release a print job from memory, maintaining confidentiality with documents like divorce proceedings or merger and acquisition contracts.
- Having access to affordable and productive color printing on-site preserves client confidentiality and eliminates the need and expense associated with copy shops for copying evidence, crime scene photos, handouts for the jury or contracts containing images.
- The LD520C/LD525C offers printing via the network, either wired or wirelessly, with access to all printer functionality so even demanding jobs like client reports or discovery documents can be finished in one step without being tied down to a desk or an office.

Scan & Send/Fax Advantages

- The 50-Sheet ARDF on the LD520C/LD525C holds one- or two-sided pages enough capacity for even the largest contracts—and scans originals to e-mail destinations and/or shared folders, eliminating wasted file space. And with the Batch Scanning Mode, users can quickly produce contracts and handouts that exceed 51+ sheets.
- Scan-to-FTP supports file sharing between users of different operating systems allowing your lawyers and clients to share large documents such as case law research, regardless of the platform.
- Store your contracts, handouts, or client reports directly to a USB memory device or SD memory card with the Scan-to-Media feature. Taking your files anywhere is now easier than ever.
- With Forwarding Faxes to E-mail, your partners can have inbound faxes of contract revisions or discovery documents sent to their e-mail accounts, allowing them to retrieve faxes from home or anywhere.

Copy Advantages

- With the maximum 1,600 sheet paper capacity, these Lanier Color MFPs can handle even the largest copying jobs without significantly impacting the time of your administrative staff.
- Watermarking and date stamping modes can be used to place text such as "Draft" or "Confidential" on documents.
- Your administrative staff can copy 8.5" x 14" pages such as contracts and wills and have them ready for immediate distribution or filing with corner stapling or 2-hole punching across the top margin.
- Improve input productivity by eliminating the need for users to wait until the system is idle before programming the next job with the Job Preset Feature. Your staff can scan originals and enter job instructions for up to 8 copy jobs while the system is outputting a current job.

System Security Advantages

- When one of the optional wireless interfaces are installed, WPA Support allows wireless users to access the network and print wirelessly in a secure environment, from a conference room for example, so multiple lawyers can work anywhere within the confines of the office.
- With the optional Copy Data Security Unit, any confidential files printed using the RPCS driver can be embedded with a special message that makes it difficult to copy these documents.

Document Server Advantages

- With the Store & Print function of the Hard Disk Drive, a legal form can be printed while that same document is being stored on the HDD in one single operation, saving time and minimizing steps.

Software Solution Advantages

- Capture and allocate client-related print, copy, scan and fax expenses to increase billing speed and accuracy, automatically exchanging client matter and expense information with leading accounting solutions by implementing Lanier's Print Director—a comprehensive tracking and cost recovery solution.
- Print Director offers extensive cost recovery and print management capabilities that help streamline existing workflows, augment customer service, reduce inefficient manual processes, enhance ROI for business-critical applications and ultimately improve the bottom line.
- Lanier's GlobalScan ensures data security and control over information with network authentication, including support for Kerberos, an advanced protocol that certifies the identity of both the sender and the recipient. In addition, users can increase data security with password-protected PDFs by entering a password before scanning, so PDFs that reach unintended recipients are unreadable.
